FROM THE MINISTER'S DESK

WOUNDS

French author Charles Peguy once told the story of a man who died and went to heaven. He was met by an angel who said to him, 'Show me your wounds.' And he replied, 'Wounds? I have not got any.' And the angel said, 'Did you never think that anything was worth fighting for?'

It really says something that while we may expect to collect some scars in life from harm having been done to us, we give less thought to putting ourselves in harms way for the sake of justice and truth. The Christ who turned over tables in the temple challenges me to overcome my conflict-averse tendencies and risk being wounded.

I am writing this on Friday and today in South Africa a non-profit called Women for Change is calling on us all to wear black or purple and give real attention to the scourge of Gender-Based Violence in our land. This really is something worth fighting for, even being wounded for. Where will you and I be able to speak up and make a difference?

Condolences

Condolences to the Sullivan family and friends on the passing of Sherwyn Sullivan on Thursday 20 November

Flowers this Sunday

As we say our goodbyes, we are grateful for the people we have met and the experiences we have had and how they have taught us to trust GOD's providence and guidance. Our sadness in saying goodbye is mixed with the joy and hopefulness of our new life. May you continue to grow in faith and love.
